THE WASHINGTON TEACHERS' UNION LAUNCHES NEW WEBSITE

The Washington Teachers' Union (WTU) today announced that it has launched a new website. The redesigned website can be found at www.wtulocal6.org or at www.washingtonteachersunion.org and is more user-friendly with streamlined content sections and easy navigation for members, the media, building representatives and retirees.

Some website improvements include:

- Navigation Structure – The website structure has been designed to make it easier for visitors to find exactly what they are looking for and navigate through the various sections of the site.
- Design Layout – The new website design is very interactive with WTU photos, flash components, enhanced graphics and the WTU brand to provide visitors with a more graphically pleasing site.
- New Features – Some of the new features on the website include: member benefits forms, key resources, membership surveys, a media and retirees section, video footage of media interviews, and photo gallery.

“We are very excited about our new website and know that it will be a very effective tool in not only communicating with our members, but sharing valuable information about latest news, upcoming events and meetings, vital resources, professional development opportunities and membership benefits,” stated WTU President George Parker.

The WTU represents more than 4,000 DC public schools teachers and is dedicated to improving the working environment for DC Public School (DCPS) teachers so that they can provide a quality education for all District of Columbia school children.
